Volume X

Foreword

As we go through life, we meet many seemingly insurmountable obstacles which must be overcome. Realizing this, we, the Class of '52 chose as our motto "Climb, though the rocks be rugged."

Through our yearbook we will strive to illustrate the part that high school plays in the climb toward our goal. In order to do this, we have likened our six years at Muhlenberg to a mountain climb.

We hope that this book will recall pleasant memories of the friendships and experiences shared during our educational trek at Muhlenberg.

Ever Upward

The climb of life is an arduous climb,
A road of struggles to a goal sublime.
To help us in our quest for truth,
Are those who teach and guide our youth.

New to the way of mastering a task,
How can we meet what requirements ask?
By setting our purpose firmly in view,
Our climb improves as the years ensue.

No matter how steep and trying the trail,
A spirit of fellowship must always prevail,
Working together is the aim of the plan
That God has designed in the heart of Man.

At last we reach our first great peak,
While new hills arise for us now to seek.
With all that we've learned on this happy climb
Even greater horizons may be ours in time.

Dedication

We, the Class of 1952, dedicate this book to the faculty members of Muhlenberg Township High School who have, in turn, dedicated themselves to the development of youth. Drawing an analogy between life and a mountain climb has made us realize the importance of guides. What they have given us is not found in a history book or a geometry proposition, but in the guidance and companionship of friends. We hope that this dedication will express to them our respect and admiration.

Faculty

Our Faculty, who have devoted themselves to helping young people gain greater heights, guide us over the difficulties in the path of learning, and help us to appreciate the finer milestones along the trail. Knowing the trail from previous experiences, they aid us in finding our way. They spend long hours on the trail, teaching us to recognize and overcome the obstacles.

To divert us from the every-day routine of the journey, they advise us in our recreational activities. They develop in us a sense of determining the right route. Periodically they test our mental growth and abilities. Our guides vary in their skills and abilities, and by coming in contact with most of them, we develop in all phases of life's climb.

There are not words enough to tell everything that our guides have done for us. As we continue our perpetual climb, we should like to thank them for their guidance, wisdom, and tolerance.

*The climb of life is an arduous climb,
A road of struggles to a goal sublime.
To help us in our quest for truth,
Are those who teach and guide our youth.*

Math Proves "Y Figures R Interesting"

Math department numbers racket at Middlebury. One of the larger departments in school, seventh and eighth grades confronted with long division, decimals, percentages, and reading problems. Introduced to Mrs. Rafter's formulae, graphed tests, and Mr. Brokenshire's pep talks. Mr. Owen led study of insurance and taxation in commercial class. The brain and splotches earned the "Y's" of geometry and complicated art of graphing under direction of Mr. White and Mr. Brokenshire. New generation this course offered to ninth and tenth grades in place of old one. Eighth grade classes invested hypothetical "big" money in stocks and bonds and computed the rate of return.

Mr. Shipe's mysterious curriculum base, to say the least, proved more than convincing by Mr. White that "Geometry is the study" . . . originals were often proved quite "originally" . . . ambitious Euclidians accepted challenges for extra credit . . . "trig" students practiced with a flourish . . . Exotic trigonometry bewildered seniors . . . senior math class struggled with progressions . . . knowledge gained through math proved extremely helpful on the climb toward truth.

"Typing Tessies" Anticipate Employment

Commerce students prepared to occupy positions in the business world. First year bookkeeping classes were especially small, stresses being themselves. Also during the first year, experienced bookkeepers let a lot of work on their own. The first bookkeeping were taught in the first second year typing and the application of these principles to business letters, reports, forms. Because of the wisdom of using a good typewriter, a student is permitted to elect it for either one or two years. Business English, combined with a third year of typing, offered to seniors. . . office practice students served as secretaries to faculty members. One period a week was set aside for the work spent during the school performance, secretarial duties included cutting and running stencils, writing letters, typing reports and outlines, addressing envelopes. . . a lot of time spent in the machine. The student who had a lot of time to spare in the machine. . . stressed typing. . . so that they could be more efficient in practice. . . learned to build speed and transcribe letters from dictation.

Handymen Create Useful Projects

How to properly and the proper methods of using tools and conserving material which every householder should know, were taught to the students in Industrial Arts Classes. Consumer education was stressed throughout the year . . . useful and ornamental objects such as cutting boards, chests, tables, mallets, and light bases were made in woodshop. Projects of copper trays, weights, and picture frames were among the projects in metal shop. Future craftsmen in electrical drawing classes made and stored projects for homes, lettering, and machine drawings . . . boys enjoyed choosing their projects. Industrial instructors hope some day to have a class of girls.

Bus Drivers and Custodians Render Essential Service

Those of us who have lived in this area know how dependent we are on the bus system. It is the only way we can get to work, school, and other places. The bus system is a vital part of our community. Without it, our lives would be a lot more difficult. The bus drivers and custodians who work for the school district are the ones who make this system run. They are the unsung heroes of our community. They work long hours and often in difficult conditions. But they do it because they know it is their duty. They are the ones who keep our schools running smoothly. Without them, our schools would be a complete mess. So, the next time you see a bus driver or custodian, take a moment to thank them. They are the ones who make our lives possible.

Underclassmen

Just as mountain climbers, beginning their ascent, often consider the summit as the only significant factor, so we often think of our senior year and graduation as the only incentive to continue onward in school. After several hours of plodding, mountaineers realize that they must not concentrate all attention on the summit because they are constantly faced with immediate obstacles that must be conquered.

As they continue, the summit remains as the goal, but the climb becomes the challenge. Some of us realize this already in seventh grade; others never seem to. It is this latter group that becomes discouraged and uninterested and soon falls by the wayside.

Gradually, as we learn to overcome more of our everyday problems, the journey becomes easier. Less effort is required to progress and more can be devoted to diversions. Even though rocks are more rugged in senior high than junior, experienced climbers surmount them with relative ease.

As the summit is approached, we realize that its significance is great only because of the climb before it.

Activities

As we climb this first mountain in the range of life we pause now and then for relaxation.

The ways in which we do this are as diversified as our personalities. We may prefer music, service, marching, dramatics, writing, cheerleading, sports, or debating. Each of these diversions does its part to help us along the trail of life.

The fellowship gained here is a valuable part of our progress; it helps us to understand our fellow travelers. Leaders, who help us over the rough spots, were developed here. The fine traits of character that these activities form strengthen us so that we can conquer the rugged rocks of life.

By alternating work with relaxation and fellowship, we make our climb more enjoyable and better prepare ourselves to attain the summits ahead.

As mountain climbers bind themselves together with a rope, using team work to attain a common goal, we are also bound together in spirit as we collaborate to achieve success in our ventures. An indispensable part of our training is learning to develop ourselves as part of a unit as well as individuals.

*No matter how steep and trying the trail,
A spirit of fellowship must always prevail.
Working together is the aim of the plan
That God has designed in the heart of Man.*

A four-day camping trip concluded the club's program. The purpose of Horizon Club can be expressed in the following creed:

As if means are ever changing and always distant
I shall not stand still and look into their purple shadows
Instead I shall seek the higher purposes and the new adventures that are beyond
I shall reach ever outward to the horizon that is always just beyond my grasp

Seniors Present "Mother Is A Freshman"

Seniors at present which they presented first Saturday night performance on November 29 and December 1 from 8 to 10 p.m. when Abigail Fortitude Abbott entered Painter College on her usual scholarship. Sue, her roommate, called her when she was with Professor Michaels, zoology instructor, who in turn fell in love with Abigail. The story is set when the first professor gave duplicate poetry books, "Love Among the Ruins" to both of them. Abigail was excited because she dropped the professor, but was disappointed when he came to her home to say that he had lost the scholarship. The story ended with a dramatic rehearsal of the play. The play was a success despite bad weather, heavy interferences, and a bus strike . . . play directed by Mr. Koch

Muhl Gridsters Reign Again

Muhl's record of superiority with St. Francis after five years here, overall record in county is 36 wins, 7 defeats and 1 tie. This year Muhl set three records this year — in 12 games 6 teams held scoreless, only 24 points scored — but the team's penetrable defensive team scored 48 points — season highlighted by decisive 80-0 win over St. Francis. However, suffered heart break when tied by Shilington — Ron Weibel tips in conference scoring with 7 touchdowns, conference yards total of 1411 Y.D. for the season — Pete Williams, the 110 lb. midget, scored 10 touchdowns, outstanding — the club's record — offensive speed in previous school record of 204 points — team started new uniforms in opening game of season at Reeling Mammoth Stadium — Coach Clemens and assistants Mr. J. B. White and Mr. Goodling agree that this was the most outstanding team in school history.

Varsity Cagemen Place Third In County League

Varsity quintet compiled a record of 15 wins and 16 losses. Coached by Mr. Shipe, they terminated the season in third place. The team was composed of six seniors, one sophomore and three juniors. Class A representative in district play, the spirit of the team was evident in the close scores and league record of 12 wins and 4 losses. Statisticians were Mr. Kutz, Mr. Owen and J. R. G. Sell. Junior Varsity compiled a record of 13 wins and 8 losses to gain fifth place in the county. Coach Goodhue led the juniors and sophomores through a hard-fought season. Several of the players of the Varsity gave the JV players the opportunity to be moved to the varsity squad when needed.

Seniors

As we continue on our ever constant journey upward, we find that at graduation time we have reached one of the first levels of the rocky climb

Through constant cooperation and effort, we have achieved this height. It has been a long, difficult journey—these twelve years, and we feel that at last we have reached our ultimate goal

But looking farther into the distance, there are many more levels, rockier and higher, which await to be scaled. Here, the trail does not end, but divides into two distinct paths. On the one hand there is the guided tour of further educational journeys, while on the other, we will venture forth upon a vocational trek, enlightened by the lamp of experience

We know that short cuts lead only to the deep valleys below instead of making goals loom closer. Staying within the boundaries of the trail, we will eventually progress higher and higher on the rocky mountainside

We must always be aware of the heights beyond, and "Climb Though The Rocks Be Rugged."

At last we reach our first great peak.

While new hills arise for us now to seek

With all that we've learned on this happy climb

Even greater horizons may be ours in time

Class History

As we give the first year in life class, we recall our six year journey at Muhlenberg Township High School.

We entered seventh grade in 1946-1947. Except for the whole section's getting lost, we soon became acclimated to the many bells, rooms, halls, teachers and recesses. Jacqueline Martin and Lois Hughes were the winners of the treasure hunt at the Reading Museum. We were the first seventh graders to send delegates to our new Student Council. Helen Schaefer and Ronald Clouser were chosen for the Empire Steel awards.

In eighth grade we took part in the "perpetual" Ship of the Supper. We gave vocational reports in guidance class - how our interests have changed. Mary Lee Pearah and Ronald Clouser were the recipients of the American Legion prizes.

Our freshman year brought five more class periods, civics, notebooks and Latin projects. Fifteen of our outstanding Junior High County Champions at Kutztown High School. The Senior Women's Club awards were presented to Mary Lee Pearah and Ronald Clouser.

In tenth grade we were officially organized as a class. Officers were Paul Hettrich, president; Harold Stolt, vice president; Lolita Bunnell, secretary, and Janice Yoh, treasurer. Our class hats were proudly displayed in and out of school. Our first dance, "Soph Hop" was held July 27 and April 15 and colorful balloons and flowers. Nineteen Landis was crowned queen of this event. Helen Schaefer and Paul Hettrich received the M. Jeter Creek Hosiery prizes. A trip to Riverview Beach brought this year to an enjoyable close.

Now seniors we presented the comedy "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." March 15 and 16. A pattern list of more than 1100 for this play topped all previous records. We spent four hours new class swatches of blue and white. Lee Williams was elected class vice president, the other officers remained the same. In February we ate our first new cafeteria for the first time. Six seniors were inducted into the National Honor Society. Mary Lee Pearah and Ronald Clouser received the Junior Women's Club awards. August 12 was spent at the Reading Country Club and going to the house of Hank Hittman at our Junior Senior Prom. Shirley Becker was proclaimed Junior Prom Queen.

Senior year we began the class room design using blue stone and larger materials. We shined away our last bright time - complete yearbook. Our romantic class play, "Mother Is a Freshman" was presented November 20 and December 1. A delightful evening was spent dancing to the music of Sexy Shaeferberger at the Junior Senior Prom. Our commemorative pageant, depicting that Berks County is celebrating the first six year trek at Muhlenberg Township High School.
